Message of Felicitation

For preservation and development of traditional handicrafts, motivation of artisans is a timely requirement. Recognition of artisans will ensure continuous preservation of the creative arts of our ancestors that still amaze us.

In the face of the changes in the market economy in the past few decades, the decline in the handicraft and other local industries resulted in a drop of foreign exchange flow.

Currently there is an imperative need to strengthen local industries as they could produce many items locally, that are being imported now. This would save foreign exchange to the country. Simultaneously an awareness program should be developed to encourage consumers to buy local products instead of foreign products. Furthermore, steps must be taken to increase export of local products to foreign markets.

I congratulate the "Shilpa Abhimani" 2023 National Handicrafts Exhibition which paves the way for achieving above objectives, and hope that the artisans who receive awards will also be able to uplift handicrafts through innovative concepts and a targeted timeline.

Dinesh Gunawardena (M.P)
Prime Minister
Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka

12th December 2023

The Sri Lankan handicraft industry, having a rich and distinctive heritage, is the pride of our country. This is indeed the uniqueness and identity of the local culture. We have a greater responsibility to protect the local artisans, who are continuing the practice of passing down this valuable legacy of traditional craftsman from generations to generations.

I would first like to make a special note to appreciate the National Craft Council for all the efforts made to develop, encourage and promote the local craft industry and to strengthen local artisans socially and economically.

Strengthening relationships between countries and regional cooperation on adopting eco-friendly practices are very concerned across the world, today. Handicraft, in this context, is an exceptional industry in local and international market place due to its general recognition as eco-friendly products, fashionable designs and its country specific identity.

I am very grateful to the Ministry of Industries, the Small and Medium Enterprise Development Division and the National Craft Council for organizing a national scale event to award due recognition to the artisans and for taking necessary measures to provide care and protection for the traditional craft industry and its artisans, who have been preserving the traditional craftsmanship throughout for the future as an iconic industry with their exceptional designs, using modern technologies and techniques.

All, who are recognized with the “Shilpa Abhimanee”, the Presidential Award - 2023 for Handicraft Industry are a great asset to the country. With all your endeavors, the Sri Lankan presence is well taken across the globe and I wish you all the best.

Hon. (Dr.) Ramesh Pathirana
Minister of Industry and Health

Preserving Sri Lankan traditional handicrafts and recognizing the artisans through the esteemed “Shilpa Abhimani” 2023 National Presidential Award ceremony is a noble responsibility we uphold. The challenges faced by these artisans are significant and warrant our attention.

Over the past three years, I am gratified to have guided the handicraft industry towards a new trajectory, incorporating ideas, suggestions, and expert knowledge garnered from various sectors.

Fostering the allure of young artisans and introducing innovative techniques are paramount in fortifying the foundation of traditional handicraft promotion, a commitment we diligently pursued.

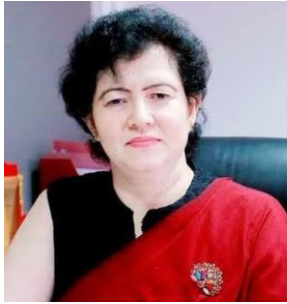

Crucial to our mission is capturing the attention of both the domestic and foreign markets. I am pleased to witness the tangible progress of our initiatives in this regard.

Heartfelt congratulations are extended to all artisans who will be honored at the “Shilpa Abhimani” 2023 National Presidential Awards Ceremony, a celebration of the glory of traditional craftsmanship.

J.M. Thilaka Jayasundara

Secretary

Ministry of Industries

Sri Lanka has always been a land steeped in opulence and artistic brilliance, shown through its rich and epic history. At its core, the regal lineage of the country has fostered the creation of extravagant artifacts by the skilled hands of Sri Lankan artisans, offering a testament to their unparalleled craftsmanship.

Navigating the centuries, these artisans have created an array of wonders, from clothing to accessories and utilities to weaponry, showcasing not only sophistication but also artistic prowess. This extends to palace decorations, furniture, wooden and stone carvings, toys, puppets and much more. Temples bear witness to intricate stone carvings, paintings, statues, and wood carvings, embodying the diverse expressions of Sri Lanka's religious values and depth. Each artifact serves as a memorabilia of Sri Lanka's rich artisan history, inviting us to appreciate the boundless creativity that has shaped this nation.

The National Crafts Council emerged in the year 1982 as a beacon of preservation and progress. Its mission is rooted in recognizing the immeasurable value in the designs and masterful craftsmanship of our artisans, ensuring that this rich legacy is not only upheld but also seamlessly passed down to the next generation.

To secure this commitment and forge a path to sustainable careers, the National Design Centre and Laksala have been established under the same act. This serves as an educational institute and marketplace, guiding artisans toward recognition and financial stability, thereby transforming their craft into a consistent and viable profession.

Recognizing the government's indispensable role in protecting the immense heritage of Sri Lanka, it becomes important to prioritise the endeavours of these artisans, especially in the context of our nation's economic landscape. In light of this responsibility, the forthcoming National Handicrafts Presidential Awards Ceremony and Exhibition 2023 undertakes paramount importance, serving to recognise and celebrate. It is with thoughtful dedication that the government has embraced the initiative, aligning with the obligation of safeguarding our cultural heritage through recognising the invaluable work of these artisans. My sincerest congratulations to all the participants of the event and the award winners, the exceptional artisans of our time.

In the spirit of preservation and appreciation,
Sampath Erahapola
Chairman
